Tasting Notes

The 2007 Frazier Syrah is a rich, full bodied wine from the slopes of Mt. Veeder. This Syrah is marked by a ripe nose of raspberries, blackberries, and a bit of freshly cracked black pepper, all very indicative of Mt. Veeder. The nose gives way to a sweet, fleshy mid-palate of ripe black and red fruits and a long finish. We have found this wine drinks very well on its own and pairs well with a wide array of dishes. Most recently we paired it with duck sausage & Fontina crostini, charcuterie, and earthy cheeses. We feel this wine is best consumed mid 2010- 2017.
